1.5 MATLAB script files ← also called m files, since they have a ".m" extension

Why do we need a script file?
- To perform a series of calculations
- To reuse calculations later

How to create a script file?
- click on "New Script"
- assign a new name to the "untitled" file and save
- type in the lines for the calculation
- save the file
- click on "Run" executes the file.